Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 19 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Further showers on Wednesday. Dry but chilly tonight, frost probable.

Today:
Cloudy with early rain or showers slowly clearing east. An improving picture in the west where dry and bright for a time, however showers will soon develop. Some will become heavy during the afternoon, especially in East Anglia. Feeling warmer. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Any showers will die away during the evening, followed by largely clear skies. Turning chilly with grass frosts locally, mist and shallow fog patches by dawn. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
A dry and bright start but increasingly cloudy on Thursday, with rain spreading east early afternoon. Rain becoming showery and heavier later, along with strengthening winds. Feeling rather cool. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Wet and windy on Friday, with showers or longer spells of rain. Some lighter winds on Saturday, with sunny spells and showers. Chilly start on Sunday, then further showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.